

Aboriginal Health

Service Mapping

HealthWest has compiled a directory of services that are available for the Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander communities living in the West of Melbourne to raise awareness of what types of services are on offer and how to access those services.

The mapping summarises what type of service can be accessed, as well as providing detailed contact information, including website hyperlink to the organisation's website.

The mapping is in two stages, the first detailing service providers who have a presence in the West and who provide services that are specific to Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people. The second is a listing of Aboriginal specific organisations that provide services to the Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander communities living in Melbourne's West but are not physically located in the West.

Health and wellbeing services for Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander communities in Melbourne's west

Aboriginal specific services accessible to Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander communities in Melbourne's west

If you have any feedback, questions or queries in relation to our mapping exercise, please contact Libby Jewson at HealthWest at libby.jewson@healthwest.org.au

Report on the evaluation of the HealthWest Cultural Self-Identification Card Pilot Project

Read the report: Report on the evaluation of the HealthWest Cultural Self-identification Card Pilot Project